Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing a letter to tell you that I am so, so, so thankful that you and your team are working so hard risking your lives due to the horrible Corona Virus.

I know it must be very tough working with people that are very ill and experiencing this horrible time, where lots of people are dying every day. You are the ones who have to save these very sick patients. I am sure that every Thursday, everyone will be clapping for you and the wonderful NHS team. I know for a fact that people are very kindly sending donations, so that you can buy more ventilators, for the sickest people.

Please can you continue all of the hard work that you are doing helping all these patients and once again, I give you a massive thank you, for all your hard- work that you are doing.

Yours sincerely

Alice Arrowsmith
