

World War 2 Air Raid Bombing Poem

At one time this village, this village of peace,

Became a most frightening sight of all times.

For the Germans attacked and the silence shattered,

By grenades and overhead planes.

The Messerschmitt diving made many homes die down,

The village vibrated with death's serenade.